A VISTA OF THE NEW

The vista from a third-storey window casement of one of two eleven-storey student residences being completed west of the Jubilee Auditorium embraces a view of the new Food Services Building, foreground, and the equally new ten-storey Education Building on 87th Avenue.

Of much more dated vintage but very much a landmark and continuing to serve an important residence requirement is St. Stephen's College, left background.

SCIENTISTS STUDY PUZZLE

Two staff geophysicists are studying an earth formation in Germany that is a puzzle to world scientists.

Using a method they helped to develop and equipment they built themselves, they are trying to determine the nature of the formation which is known to exist in two places in the world.

Dr. Keeva Vozoff and M. D. Burke of the department of physics are undertaking the project on a grant from the National Research Council of Canada and the petroleum research fund of the American Chemical Society.

The mysterious earth formation in Germany is an area of high electrical conductivity, starting about 30 to 40 miles below the surface and centred near Hanover.

A similar anomaly has been found in Japan and there is some evidence others may exist at Alert and Mould Bays in Canada's north.

PSYCHOLOGIST PROBING NEUROSIS

How can a neurotic person get rid of his neurosis?

Some of the answers may come out of a research project underway at the University.

Dr. W. N. Runquist and a research team in the department of psychology are trying to determine what happens to the conditioned response over a long period of time.

And, he says ,there is a possibility that the conditioned response and neurotic behavior are related.

What is a conditioned response?

The best way to explain, according to Dr. Runquist, is to go back 50 years to the man who invented the term—the Russian psychologist Ivan Pavlov.

Pavlov discovered a technique for investigating, in the laboratory, the process of simple learning by association. Using dogs as subjects, he took a hungry dog, rang a bell, then gave the dog some food which made him salivate. Before long, the dog began to salivate to the bell which previously had little effect on the dog's behavior.

This simple learning by association Pavlov called a conditioned response.

Using experiments involving human subjects to produce conditioned responses, and working on a grant from the U.S. National Institute of Health. Dr. Runquist wants to find out what happens when the conditioning process that produced the response is repeated over and over for a long period.

From previous research, he said, it appears the learned response eventually disappears.

If this is proven, then it could follow that the abnormal response of the neurotic might be "unlearned".

THREE DEANS

During the first twenty-one years housed in the old Education Building on 82 Avenue, the Faculty of Education has been guided by three Deans. The first, Dr. M. E. Lazerte, left, organized and directed the Faculty during the formative years. Dr. H. E. Smith, right, provided leadership for five years beginning in 1950. Dr. H. T. Coutts has led the faculty in its recent major expansion of staff, facilities, and program. The move into the new Education Building fulfills a vision of Dean Coutts and his predecessors—that of bringing education students and staff into closer contact with the academic and social life of the University.

SPRING CONVOCATION SECTION

Report of the President

May 31st

AS MANY of you will have observed, our Spring Convocation is later this year than it has ever been in the history of the University. There are a number of reasons for this, chief of which are the growth of student numbers, the complexity of the curriculum, and the additional time needed for mid-term and final examinations.

The University's building program reflects the growth in student numbers and in the research activity of the faculty. Yesterday we celebrated the official opening of the new Education Building on 87th Avenue, which I am pleased to say is one of the finest academic structures in Canada, costing over $4,200,000. The Faculty will move into it after Summer School and it will be in full use by September. Earlier this year the Armed Services Building was completed in time for the final parade of the University of Alberta Contingent, Canadian Officers Training Corps, and for use as an examination hall for final examinations. The Nuclear Research Centre will be completed this month to house the new six million volt Van de Graaff accelerator and in September we hope the new Library and Food Services Building will be ready for use. Unfortunately the two new residence buildings will not be ready for the opening of the fall term, but the contractors are ahead of schedule and they may be available for some use in this coming session. A Structural Engineering Laboratory, to be completed in October, will be the final item on our list of new buildings for this fiscal year, on the Edmonton campus.

Two major projects are scheduled for a start this year—a Social Sciences Building at the corner of Saskatchewan Drive and 112th Street, and a Household Economics Building on 114th Street. Others for which planning has begun include new facilities for Biology and Agriculture, additions to the Students' Union Building and the Administration Building, Married Students' quarters and several others.

On the Calgary campus the new Library is going ahead well and should be ready for use this fall at a cost of approximately $2,850,000. Plans are well advanced for a new Arts Building, an Engineering Building, a Science Building and a residence complex similar to that in Edmonton.

If all this is reminiscent of the catalogue of ships in Homer's Iliad, I should remind you all of what it involves in human effort and expense. The project committees of the Faculty, the Campus Planning Committee, the Board of Governors, the Architects and Engineers in the Department of Public Works, and the contractors who build them, all contribute immense amounts of time, thought, and hard work to this building program, and the people of Alberta through the Government and legislature bear most of the cost, though some help is received from the Canada Council and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, where possible. These are the physical facilities of higher education, and although they are not the most essential elements in a University, they are very important indeed. This year our capital budget for such purposes is over $16,500,000 an increase of more than 50% over last year.

It is said that the Greek Philosopher, Socrates, earned a meagre living as a stone-cutter and taught his disciples without pay. In fact, he was very suspicious of the Sophists who charged fees for their lessons. The monks of the middle ages were a more numerous group and better organized, but they still offered their services in their colleges without imposing heavy demands on their students or their patrons. In our more sophisticated economy of today money has become a very important ingredient in higher education. Our operating budget this year is nearly $23,000,000, an increase of 18.6% over last year. Income from the Province is at $11,000,000 up over 15%, federal aid is at $2,745,000, up 22%, and our estimate of income for fees is over $4,000,000, up 30%. Even so, our aspirations are such that still greater income could be put to good use.

The true measure of a University is not to be found in the number of its students, the physical facilities, or the size of the budget, but in the quality, the vigour, and the activities of its Faculty. It is in this respect, above all, that the growth of the University of Alberta is so noteworthy. More and more funds are coming in for research from such agencies as the National Research Council, the Medical Research Council, the National Cancer Institute, the Heart Foundation, from civic and service organizations and from private donors. In 1960-61 the University secured $965,000 in outside funds for research. In 1961-62 the figure was nearly $1,400,000 and for the past fiscal year we expect the figure will be well over $2,000,000.

Changes and developments in the academic curricula are too numerous to describe in detail but a few deserve special mention. Faculties of Arts and Science and of Education have been established on the Calgary campus and plans are well advanced for the development of Departments there. The curricula in Arts and Science, in Commerce, Engineering, and Education were drastically revised. New programs leading to the Master's Degree and the Ph.D. Degree were approved in several fields. The last meeting of the Faculty of Arts and Science on the Edmonton campus was held this month and the two Faculties of Arts and of Science will operate separately in the future, although they will continue to hold joint meetings from time to time and to collaborate in many aspects of their work.

The Faculty of Education has established a new Department of Technical and Vocational Education and 84 men and women have completed a program of teacher education in this special field in its first year of operation. The Faculty has also authorized a graduate diploma for teachers who wish a program of specialization but do not plan to proceed to a higher degree. The School of Physical Education has established a new program in Recreational Leadership and has been selected as one of three schools in Canada for a Fitness Research Institute under the Department of National Health and Welfare. The new Cancer Research Unit was officially opened this month to carry on research in the Dr. John S. MacEachern Laboratory in the fields of Biochemistry and cell physiology. Funds have been made available from the Canadian Council on Urban and Regional Research to the Department of Political Economy for studies in urban development under Professor E. J. Hanson. In fact, every Department is engaged in research, chiefly on the University's own campuses, but sometimes taking staff members as far afield as Greece or East Africa.

It was not so long ago that the University was fully engaged in undergraduate teaching from late September to April with nothing of much importance happening for five months of the year. Now the University conducts or participates in innumerable short courses, institutes, Summer Schools and programs at all levels and in many fields. In spite of the fact that we have a large and active Summer School on the Calgary campus, the advance registration for Edmonton has broken all previous records. With the help of the Women's Society of the Edmonton Symphony, the Division of Music will conduct a Summer School for Strings for two weeks this summer. For the past two weeks the Faculty of pharmacy has conducted a course in Radioisotope Techniques under Dr. B. E. Riedel with thirty-seven people enrolled from as far as Vancouver and Nova Scotia.

Numerous honours have come to members of the Faculty this past year. Dean W. C. MacKenzie was made Honorary Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. This honour is limited to sixty-five living fellows in the world. Dr. R. E. Folinsbee was awarded the Past President's Medal from the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at the annual convention held in Edmonton in April. Professor E. O. Lilge of our Department of Mining and Metallurgy is to be awarded the Consolidated Gold Fields of South Africa gold medal at the general meeting of the Institution of Mining and Metallurgy in London, England, on June 16th. Dr. Leo Moser of our Department of Mathematics was chosen Visiting Lecturer in the Program sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America and is now travelling through the Eastern United States as Visiting Lecturer. For the second time in succession a staff member of this University has been named NATO Visiting Professor to Europe and Dr. H. Baadsgaard will take up his post at the University of Copenhagen in January of the next year. Dr. A. W. Reeves of our Department of Educational Administration received the Senior Visitors Award by the Commonwealth Office of Education, Sydney, Australia, following his tour of Australia under the Scheme of Commonwealth Cooperation in Education .

I should like now to say a few words about our Libraries. This might be known as University Library Year in Canada in view of the report published by the National Conference of Canadian Universities and Colleges on a Survey carried out by Edwin E. Williams of Harvard with special reference to holdings in the Humanities and Social Sciences. This report indicates that Canadian University libraries had a few bright spots but were generally inadequate for research in these fields. We have made great progress in the libraries of the University of Alberta in recent years on both campuses. In Edmonton we recently reached a total figure of 300,000 volumes, three times the number of 1961 when the Rutherford Library was opened. In addition we have 97,000 government documents and a substantial library in microform. Special efforts have also been made to build up the Calgary library and approximately $136,000 was spent there last year for nearly 18,000 volumes,, 213 reels of microfilm, 3,212 microcards, 43 phono records, and several thousand government documents. The book collection was increased by 42% to bring it to over 60,000 volumes—almost the exact figure reached on the Edmonton campus after 30 years, when I joined the staff.

The library in Edmonton receives 4,251 periodicals, an increase of 19.6% over last year, and the Calgary library receives 1,220. Book circulation in Calgary increased by 46% over the previous year and attendance by 59%. The urgency of the need for the new Library Building is apparent from these figures.

Both Libraries have been the recipients of a number of gifts from interested groups and individuals. The Edmonton library received a grant of $5,000 from the College of Physicians and Surgeons for medical books and the Calgary library, $3,500 from the Junior League for the purchase of the Human Relations Area files. The continuing interest and support of the public will be necessary if the libraries on the two campuses continue to grow and develop as they must do. We can be very proud indeed of our libraries and I suggest that any who might wish to add to these collections should consult Mr. Peel in Edmonton or Miss Ryder in Calgary.

We at the University have been pleased at recent developments in the field of Junior Colleges throughout the Province. The magnificent new Lethbridge Public Junior College was officially opened earlier this month and it stands today as a model for junior colleges in Canada in every respect and as a monument to those who planned and built it. Plans are being considered for additional public junior colleges in Grande Prairie, Red Deer, and Medicine Hat and private denominational colleges have expressed interest in affiliation with the University as Junior Colleges.

Other plans are proceeding for a special arrangement with the College Saint-Jean in Edmonton for a program of teacher education in French and English to assist in the development of elementary education in the two languages and the two cultures of our country in this province. Details will be released at a later date when arrangements for staff are further advanced. I should like to say to those who are receiving degrees today that a great field of public service in a career in Junior College teaching lies open to those who are receiving Master's degrees or even Doctorates in the appropriate academic disciplines.

The Universities and Colleges of Canada, indeed of the whole world, are finding it increasingly difficult to find the kind of staff members they require to meet the needs for teaching and research in the years immediately ahead. Our graduate school is making heroic efforts to provide the advanced programs of study required for these purposes, but they are constantly faced by deficiencies in funds for staff, equipment, space and fellowships for their graduate students. A delegation from the Canadian Universities Foundation met with the Prime Minister earlier this week to request interim assistance in excess of

TREE PLANTING

An important part of pre-Convocation ceremonies annually is the tree planting. This year the event took place on the east lawn of the Students' Union Building and popular head of the Classics Department, Dr. W. G. Hardy, honorary president of the graduating class, established a plate at the base of the tree in remembrance of the graduates of 1963.

$300,000,000 over the next three years to help meet the surging costs of University Education. We hope their request will be granted.

One feature of our academic life which is becoming increasingly important is the visits we receive from staff members of other Universities. During the past year approximately fifty distinguished scientists and scholars visited this University from the United States, Britain, Germany, Hungary, Holland, and Japan, supported by our Visiting Lecturer fund. The fresh viewpoints they were able to bring to staff and students on our two campuses made this project particularly fruitful and gratifying in its results.

The rapid developments in Universities everywhere bring many changes in staff, and the University of Alberta is not immune from these changes. The Christian Brothers who have administered St. Joseph's College on the Edmonton campus for many years, indeed since the College was built are leaving this summer and will be replaced by members of the Basilian Order. Dr. L. H. Cragg who has served the University well as Vice-President for the past four years leaves next month to take up his new duties as President of Mount Allison University in New Brunswick. He will be succeeded as Vice-President by Dr. H. S. Armstrong, now Dean of the Faculty of Science. Dr. G. W. Govier, Dean of the Faculty of Engineering, will leave for Calgary to devote more of his time to his work as Chairman of the Oil and Gas Conservation Board. Fortunately he will be able to continue to give some assistance and direction to the Division of Enginering on the Calgary campus. We are very pleased that Dr. R. M. Hardy, former Dean of the Faculty and himself one of Canada's most distinguished members of the Engineering profession, has agreed to return to his old position. Dr. Max Wyman, Professor and Head of the Department of Mathematics will succeed Dr. Armstrong as Dean of the Faculty of Science.

DEVELOPMENT OFFICER APPOINTED

The Board of Governors has confirmed the appointment of Brig. J. R. B. Jones of Ottawa as director of campus development.

Brig. Jones is a graduate of the University of Alberta in mining engineering in 1935 and served in the Canadian Army from 1940 to the present time. During World War II he served in Canada, the United Kingdom, North Africa and Northwest Europe; he was twice mentioned in dispatches, received the Distinguished Service Order and was made an officer of the Order of the British Empire. From 1946 to 1948 he was senior highway engineer on the Alaska Highway with the rank of lieutenant colonel, returning to the position of Commander and Chief Engineer in Northwest Canada with the rank of Brigadier from 1957 to 1960. From 1954 to 1957 he was Commander of the New Brunswick area where he was responsible for the development of Camp Gagetown and of the town and school district of Oromocto associated with the camp. At the present time he is chairman of the Army Rank and Trade Structure Committee at military headquarters, Ottawa. Brig. Jones will retire from the Army this summer and resume his civilian career. He is married and has two sons.

Brig. Jones will have responsibility for coordinating and directing the development of new buildings on the present University campus and also of planning additional developments elsewhere as they may be required.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

Early this Fall tenders will be called for a new School of Household Economics Building to be located adjacent to the new Education Building gymnasium. The $800,000 building facing 114 Street will be completed by the Fall of 1964.

The proposed building will be of reinforced concrete and rectangular in plan, having a total gross floor area of 42,000 sq. ft. accommodated on three floors, plus basement. Provision has been made in the design for two additional floors for any future expansion that may be required. A tunnel connection will be provided at basement level between the new structure and the Education Building gymnasium, for use by both education and household economics students.

BURGESS TROPHY PRESENTED AT ANNUAL MEETING

The Burgess Alumni Cup, emblematic of the best all-round U. of A. alumni branch activity was awarded by its donor, Bruce Burgess '48, Calgary, left, a former President of the G.A.A., to Ben Tanner '53, Toronto Branch President, for a repeat performance in topping the field of 14 alumni branches across Canada. Acknowledgement was made by Dr. Stanley that during 1962-63 the very active Toronto unit executive under Mr. Tanner's direction had again carried through with a popular program of summer and winter entertainment.

FROM THE TIME . . .

he is selected as an undergraduate, the alumnus is irrevocably associated with and attached to his university. If his university gains renown, some rubs off on him. If he attains prominence and success, his university basks in the reflected glory. He of all people has the greatest stake in his university. He follows its progress with pride; he serves as an unofficial ambassador to the community; he contributes in many ways to its leadership.

THERE ARE TWO OBLIGATIONS . . .

that must be met by any university worthy of the name. It must enable the student to gain sufficient skill and information in a chosen field so that he may make his way, however humbly, through the realities of life. And it must give him at the very least an introduction to, a curiosity about, and a method for exploring the nature of man, the great issues of mankind and the finest that has been thought, felt and said through the ages.

AWARD FOR MOST NOVEL ACTIVITY

Recognition for the most novel branch activity was acknowledged at the annual meeting of the G.A.A. when Dr. Stanley, left, chairman of the day's activities, surprised Bob Bannerman '49, President of the Calgary graduate group. Under Mr. Bannerman's direction the Calgary branch executive had taken the initiative in establishing a Chancellor's Chair which was presented to the University of Alberta, Calgary, at Fall Convocation, 1962.

POSSIBLE BREAK-THROUGH IN DENTISTRY

A scientist at the University has achieved what could be a major break-through in the field of dentistry.

After two years of research, Dr. W. V. Youdelis, associate professor of metallurgy, has developed an improved material for dental fillings which should greatly extend the life of a tooth filling.

The material is now being clinicly tested by the University's faculty of dentistry.

Dr. Youdelis' work is the only research on new dental materials being conducted in Canada and he is possibly the only metallurgist anywhere working in this field.

$40,000 IN SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships tenable for the 1963-64 academic year which total more than $40,000.00 have been awarded to graduate students in the School of Physical Education by the Canadian Council of Fitness and Amateur Sport.

During the 1962-63 academic session, there were 19 students enrolled in the Faculty of Graduate Studies who were engaged in work leading to either the M.A. or the M.Sc. degrees in physical education. Approved applications for the 1963-64 session would indicate that there will be a minimum of 25 students engaged in graduate work in the School.

COLLEGE AFFILIATES WITH UNIVERSITY

An affiliation agreement between College St. Jean, Edmonton ,and the University of Alberta has been arranged whereby the College will offer two years of a program which, when supplemented by a year of academic and professional studies in the Faculty of Education will qualify candidates for the professional certificate, and which with an additional year beyond this at the University will qualify the candidates for the Bachelor of Education degree.

The program emphasizes studies in French and English to provide teachers for bilingual schools. That part of the program which is to be given at College St. Jean, partly in French and partly in English, will include basic courses in French, English, philosophy, history, educational psychology, educational foundations, educational administration, and an option in one of mathematics, physics, or chemistry. Since students on program will spend an additional year in the Faculty of Education before qualifying for the interim professional certificate they will in fact have three years of preparation beyond senior matriculation before entering Alberta classrooms. Admission and other requirements for students carrying the program will be consistent with the regulations which apply to students who carry their full program at the University.

The campus was a brighter place for a week or two in May because of the visit of Miss Maimie Simpson, fomer Dean of Women and recipient of the Alumni Golden Jubilee Award in 1960. While she was in Edmonton Miss Simpson spoke to several clubs and groups about the two years she spent recently travelling around the world.

The largest Summer School session on record is in full swing. One of the many interesting studies being conducted this summer had to do with ethnic groups in the Edmonton area and the extent to which they have been assimilated into the general population, in which areas this assimilation has taken place, and the problems encountered.

An honor was placed recently with Dr. E. W. Mandel, associate professor of English, who has been awarded the University of Western Ontario President's Medal for poetry. The winning poem was entitled "On The Death Of Dr. Tom Dooley."

Several resignations and new appointments have been announced in advance of the Fall session.
